For AI Safety

Securing Australia's AI future

The current government will shape whether AI becomes a powerful force for good or causes catastrophic harm.

We fly with confidence because airlines have robust safety standards — the same should be true for AI. We call on the Australian Government to:

- Deliver on commitments - an Australian AI Safety Institute.
Massive investments accelerate AI capabilities, with minimal funding for risks. We need independent technical expertise within government to join global AI risk research, and regulation and policy for Australia's needs.
- Introduce an Australian AI Act that imposes mandatory guardrails on AI developers and deployers.
The Act should ensure that powerful AI systems meet robust safety standards and clarify liability for developers and deployers.
